

Speaker's Biography:

Keith Warrick has over 10 years of Information Technology experience in analyst roles that span several industries starting out at Lucent Technologies back in 1996. Currently, he is employed as an IT Business Analyst at a major insurance company.

Keith is passionate about the software application development process and the significance of the business analyst role and the criticality of their involvement in successful IT systems delivery.

Keith is a dynamic speaker. He is passionate about LinkedIn, Social Media and personal branding. He has been a featured speaker at the BDPA National Technology Conference in 2009 & 2010, Project Management Institute and ING.

Keith has his MBA from Clark Atlanta University and is a member of several professional IT oriented organizations that include:

- International Institute of Business Analysis (IIBA),
- Black Data Processing Associates (BDPA)
- Atlanta Quality Assurance Association (AQAA),
- Atlanta Software and Systems Process Improvement Network (SPIN)
- Association of Information Technology Professionals (AITP) where he serves as the Atlanta chapter's Director of Communications.